Poultry Feed

The quantity and the nutritional composition of the feed, depends on the weight and age of the birds as well as the season. Healthy birds require optimal protein and carbohydrates, along with essential vitamins, minerals and an adequate supply of water.

Srinivasa Farms is a leading manufacturer and supplier of animal nutrition. Our products are developed to provide outstanding care to flocks of egg-laying and broiler hens each day. These flocks consume tons of feed each week – a nutritious diet that helps them produce millions of safe, wholesome eggs and large quantities of meat each day.

Fortified with nutrients and immunity building substances, our feed supports faster and uniform growth. Our scientists and nutritionists constantly aim to improve quality of feed and to bridge the gap between operations and science. Feed formulations are arrived at after carefully considering seasonal variations, birds needs and quality, price and availability of ingredients.
